Fire Destroys F. J. Webb Home on Ledford

Five Runs Here Saturday Keep Firemen Busy

A house was destroyed here Saturday during a busy afternoon for the Harrisburg fire department during which there were five runs in two hours and 20 minutes.

The first four were grass fires, but the fifth and last blaze destroyed the F. J. Webb residence at 713 South Ledford street.

Firemen got the call to go to the house fire at 3:05 p. m. Arriving they found the house was beyond saving, but fought the fire nevertheless.

All of the contents of the frame structure went up in the flames.

Fire Chief L. G. Martin said he learned from Mr. Webb that the fire started in the bathroom.

Webb told Martin that his granddaughter, Glenda Webb, and some other children were playing in the house when he lay down and went to sleep. About 30 minutes later the fire was discovered by the granddaughter.

She said she saw smoke coming from the bathroom and when she opened the door it was full of flames.

She ran about a block to the home of Wayne Reed, a volunteer fireman, and told him what had happened. Reed turned in the alarm and ran to the house, which he said was afire all over.

Phone Service Disrupted

The little girl thought Webb was in the burning house but he had gotten to safety.

Martin said it was not known how the fire started.

Millard Lynch, district manager of the General Telephone Co. of Illinois, reported this fire did damage to telephone cable that knocked out service to 200 telephones in the southwest section of town.

Burned was 50 feet of 51-pair cable, through which the service was sent, and 50 feet of 26-pair new cable not in service, which had been installed for the new dial system.

Lynch said that linemen got busy on the damage and by 9 p. m. nearly all of the service had been restored.

The grass fire runs, in which both trucks were kept busy:

At 12:45 p. m. to the Alonzo Reimer home in Garden Heights.

At 1 p. m. to 612 West Poplar.

At 1:05 p. m. to 1128 Barnett street.

At 2:45 p. m. to the Reuben Tucker home in Pankeville.

The No. 1 truck, which had gone to the Reimer fire, went directly to the Barnett street blaze from Garden Heights because the No. 2 unit was tied up on West Poplar.

Eisenhower Pledges Second Term of Office To Seeking World Peace

President Speaks Before Thousands After Taking Oath of Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today pledged the second term of his administration to energetic pursuit of world peace.

He promised to seek the creation of an international climate in which "the nations cease to live in trembling before the menace of force."

Prayerfully, the chief executive in a relatively short inaugural address (about 2,000 words) said he believed the United States could be a major, contributory force to healing the divisions of the modern world.

"This, nothing less, is the labor to which we are called and our strength dedicated."

The chief executive said the principle source of world turmoil today was international communism, but he expressed the belief that Communist forces had been severely shaken by the revolt in Hungary. He said he thought recent events in Hungary demonstrated to the world "the readiness of men who love freedom to pledge their lives to that love."

Speaks Before Huge Throng

Mr. Eisenhower spoke before massed thousands in front of the Capitol shortly after he and Vice President Richard M. Nixon publicly took their oaths of office.

The oath-taking was a repetition of the private ceremony held Sunday in the White House before 80 relatives and close friends of the 66-year-old President and the 44-year-old vice president.

The President's address climaxed the solemn and ceremonious aspects of the inauguration, 43rd in the nation's history. After it came a 2 1/2 hour parade, led by Mr. Eisenhower from the Capitol to the White House. The national jubilee which marks the quadrennial occasion started Saturday afternoon and will be concluded with festive balls starting tonight and continuing into the small hours of Tuesday.

"We voice our hope and our belief that we can help to heal this divided world," the President said. "Thus may the nations cease to live in trembling before the menace of force. Thus may the weight of fear and the weight of arms be taken from the burdened shoulders of mankind."

Expresses Desire for Friendship

The President made a particular point of extending an expression of potential American friendship to the people of Russia. He did not, however, include the leaders of the Soviet Union in this friendly phase of his message.

The President said that the people of this country "honor, no less in this divided world than in a less troubled time, the people of Russia." The President wished the Russians success in educational and industrial development, greater intellectual freedom and security, and "fuller enjoyment of the rewards of their own toil."

"For as such things may come to pass," he added, "the more certain will be the coming of that day when our peoples may freely meet in friendship."

The President gave his second inaugural address a specific title—"The Price of Peace."

He explained his reasons for accepting this point:

"Splendid as can be the blessings of such a peace, high will be its cost; in toll patiently sustained."

Shawneetown Man Critically Injured

Bernard W. Richeson, 33, Hurt After Losing Control of Convertible on Rt. 1

A Shawneetown man was injured critically in one of a number of area collisions over the week-end.

Taken to Pearce hospital in Eldorado was Bernard W. Richeson, 33, who is associated with his father, Albert, in the service station business. State Policeman Adolph Sweat said Richeson had a fractured skull. The auto was demolished.

Sweat said that Richeson was driving alone in a convertible automobile when he lost control on Route 1 about four miles south of the Routes 1-13 intersection in Gallatin county at 4 p. m. yesterday.

Sweat said the car first hit the shoulder on the right side of the road and travelled 100 feet. It then swerved to the other side of the road and went 200 feet before it hit a culvert, then travelled 190 feet, rolling over as it went, landing upright in a ditch.

Sweat said Richeson was found on the highway 55 feet from where the car stopped.

Two youths, Gary and Randall Tate, 15 and 11 years old respectively, saw the incident from their yard, Sweat stated.

Here are other mishaps in the area over the week-end:

Cars driven by Terry Gowin, 25, of Olive Branch and Ethel Richeson, 54, of Ozark, figured in a collision on Route 45 three miles south of Stonefort Saturday afternoon. Officer Sweat reported. Sweat said both vehicles were travelling north and that Gowin's car crashed into the rear of the other machine when Mrs. Richeson started to turn off the highway. There were no injuries.

State Policeman Roy A. Lane reported that an auto driven by Howard D. James, 18-year-old youth who lives north of Harrisburg, went off Route 34 three miles north of Harrisburg yesterday morning as James was driving toward Harrisburg. The auto hit a guard rail and plunged into a ditch. Although there was considerable auto damage, young James was not hurt, Lane stated.

To Form UP Editors' Ass'n February 11

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — A meeting will be held here Feb. 1 to organize an association of United Press Illinois newspaper editors.

Purpose of the organization is to give editors an opportunity to exchange ideas about U. P. news and picture services with U. P. representatives.

The meeting will open at the St. Nicholas Hotel with registration at 10 a. m., followed by a business session and election of officers at 11 a. m.

United Press will host a cocktail party at noon. Lunch is set for 1 p. m. The lunch speaker will be Russell Jones, the U. P. foreign correspondent who covered the Hungarian revolt. After lunch, there will be a general work seminar starting at 2:30.

The meeting was called by a steering committee headed by Robert Greenaway, editor of the De Kalb Daily Chronicle, as temporary chairman.

Other committee members are F. Stetman Haynes, Illinois State Journal and Register, Springfield; Ed Shipley, Daily Journal, Kankakee; Ed Borman, News-Gazette, Champaign; Perry Stewart, Daily Times, Pekin; and Art Debes, Daily Register, Harrisburg.

Equality Man Burns to Death

Harry Simpson, 53, Killed When Fire Destroys Home

An Equality resident burned to death yesterday morning when his house was consumed by flames.

Dead is Harry Simpson, 53-year-old bachelor who lived alone near the city cemetery in Equality.

Coroner Charles Cox of Ridgeway said that the fire was discovered about 5 a. m. yesterday. The one-room house was in flames when it was seen by Mrs. Emery Bennett, about a block away.

Coroner Cox said the burned body was found in the house at the front door, that he apparently was trying to get out of the house. He said he did not know how the fire started.

The body was moved to the A. K. Moore funeral home in Equality and the funeral service was held there today at 2 p. m. The Rev. Frank Pearce, Equality Methodist minister, conducted the service, and burial was in Cottage Grove cemetery.

Born and reared in Equality, Simpson had no immediate relatives. Two cousins, Mrs. Henry Bradley and a Mrs. Wiggins, reside in Eldorado.

Prison Team to Re-Visit Sites

A committee appointed to select a site for a proposed ten million dollar federal maximum security penitentiary was scheduled to visit a couple of sites today and at least one tomorrow in southern Illinois but there was no word yet on a group coming into southeastern Illinois.

The sites to be inspected today and in the morning already have been visited by committees.

J. D. Barten of Harrisburg reiterated today that Cong. Kenneth Gray in Washington had promised that a team would come into this area but that he had received no word as to when to expect it.

The team in the area will visit Lawrenceville this morning, to look over the municipal airport, then go to the Crab Orchard Lake National Wildlife Refuge site in Williamson county this afternoon.

The joint bid of Centralia, Salem and Mt. Vernon will be visited tomorrow.

The inspection team is headed by James B. Bennett, director of the Bureau of Prisons. Others in the party are M. E. Alexander, assistant director; Judge Potter Stewart of the U. S. Court of Appeals; and Lawson Knott, assistant commissioner of federal buildings.

Mrs. Elmer Wallace Is Severely Burned

Mrs. Elmer Wallace received severe burns to her hands and back yesterday at her home, 322a East Lincoln, when her clothes were ignited as she stood before a fire-place.

Thinking quickly, her twelve year old son, Freeman, wrapped her in a blanket and smothered the flames.

She was taken to a hospital and released after treatment.

Wife Leaves Husband $1 from Her Estate of Million and Half

NEW YORK (AP) — A husband has filed claim for a share of his wife's 1 1/2-million-dollar estate. She left him only one dollar because they had agreed never should not live off their wives' fortunes.

Giovanni Imperato, 67, is contesting the will of his wife, the former Esther Belle Wheeler, 62, a poetess, actress and heiress of a wealthy Missouri pioneer family. She died Dec. 3.

Principal beneficiary of her will is Elizabeth Mitchell, a New York fabrics firm executive, to whom she left real estate properties in Marceline, Mo. Imperato charged in a suit filed this weekend that Miss Mitchell procured the will by fraud and undue influence.

Another major bequest is jewelry worth more than $50,000, which is to be held by the Marceline Methodist Church for five years and then sold for the benefit of the church.

Imperato objected to probate of the will, charging his wife left

Two Proud Wives, Five Youngsters Share Spotlight at Inauguration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two proud wives and five wide-eyed youngsters shared today's inaugural spotlight with President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

A happy Mamie Eisenhower, facing a day which won't end until the wee hours after four inaugural balls, had three of her grandchildren close by to watch her husband take the presidential oath for the second time.

With them were Mrs. Richard M. Nixon and her two daughters, Patricia, 10, and 8-year-old Julie, who was still shy over the remains of a black eye caused by a sledding mishap.

The Eisenhower youngsters, David, 8, Barbara Anne, 7, and Susan, 4, drove up to the Capitol with their parents, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, for the impressive ceremony starring Grandpa "Ike."

The First Lady chose a new two-piece fitted violet suit of fine gabardine for the swearing-in ceremony and inaugural parade after ward. Designed by her favorite designer, Mollie Parnis, its hip-bone length jacket was single-breasted with small notched revers and bracelet-length sleeves. The skirt was of medium width, double-pleated in narrow box pleats.

Atop her famous bangs perched a new Sally Victor creation — a small violet taffeta cloche with all-over stitching, self-material bow and turned up brim.

Mrs. Nixon's new inaugural outfit was a rose-red suit with slim skirt and abbreviated jacket topped by an ostrich plume pillbox hat of matching shade.

Missing from the family gathering was the youngest Eisenhower grandchild, 13-month-old Mary Jean Eisenhower. She was left behind at the White House today, but stole a march on the nation's other big-wigs by witnessing her grandfather's private swearing-in at the White House Sunday.

It was at her grandparents' insistence that Mary Jean — all dressed up in a new yellow dress — saw the ceremony Sunday. They argued that even if she didn't remember it, she would be able to say in the future that she was there.

Brother-in-Law of Mrs. J. H. Wells Dies

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Wells, 115 South Main street, have been called to Brewton, Ala., by the death of her brother-in-law, Percy Watson.

Death Takes Mrs. Stella Edwards; Funeral Tuesday

Mrs. Stella Edwards, 66, of 518 West Lincoln, died yesterday at 8:20 a. m. in the Lightner hospital. She had been in poor health for the past six years and seriously ill for the past two weeks.

For seven years she was employed at the laundry in Harrisburg.

Mrs. Edwards was born Sept. 15, 1890, in Hopkins County, Ky., the daughter of George and Elizabeth Eli Eades.

She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Dee Barrett and Mrs. Preston Coker, both of Harrisburg; one grandchild; one sister, Mrs. Nell O'Rourke, Harrisburg, and two brothers, Barney and George L. Eades, both of Dawson Springs, Ky.

Three children preceded her in death.

She was a member of the McKinley Avenue Baptist church where the funeral will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. Rev. George B. Leathers, Salem, former pastor, will officiate assisted by the present pastor, Rev. J. D. McCarty.

The body will lie in state in the chapel of the Harrisburg funeral home until the hour of the funeral.

Former Elizabethtown Resident Dies

Mrs. Linel Wilson, 54, former resident of Elizabethtown, died at her home in Chicago Sunday afternoon.

She was the sister of Ray Johnson of Rosiclare and Mrs. Gladys Conole of Midway.

The body is being returned to Rosiclare and Tuesday afternoon will lie in state at the Hosick funeral home. No definite plans have been made.

THE SALINE COUNTY POLIO FUND received more than $600 as a result of the "Pitch for Polio" activities Saturday of members of George Hart Post 167 American Legion and Beasley Murray Post 3642 Veterans of Foreign Wars. The veterans groups had tubs at the intersection of Routes 13 and 45 and on the Harrisburg square, inviting passing motorists to pitch money in the tubs. Some motorists pitched their money, others, as in the photo, stopped and handed their contributions to one of the workers. This is an annual activity of the VFW and Legion members. BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world. — John 9:5.

The world tried very hard to put out the light. Men are still trying to put it out.

We who live in the free world should welcome the light and use it.

The Eden Tragedy

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
Sir Anthony Eden's brief 21 months as Britain's prime minister must be written down as a tragedy of great promise unfulfilled.

For the high post he assumed in April, 1955, few men in history had a finer training school. From his first bright days in the Foreign Office, he bore the stamp of "future prime minister." He quickly acquired exacting responsibilities in the vital foreign field.

Few men, too, ever had a better teacher—the great Sir Winston Churchill.

Perhaps, ironically, that was one of the seeds of the tragedy. Many believe Sir Anthony sat too long at Sir Winston's feet. When the moment came to stand in his place, he stood unsteadily in the engulfing shadow.

Throughout his time as Britain's leader, he was beset by troubles. But most were minor. His major trial came when Egyptian President Nasser seized the Suez Canal last July.

With many leaders in many lands, Sir Anthony read this act as a grave threat to Europe's, and particularly Britain's, oil lifeline. He wanted to move then to take control of the waterway and assure to Europe its flow of fuel.

He was dissuaded from that course, chiefly by the United States. But, finally satisfied that America would not support the kind of action against Nasser he deemed essential to secure the canal, Sir Anthony in concert with the French struck the crucial military blow at Egypt.

Having moved without consulting America, he deeply angered President Eisenhower and his diplomatic aides. For many reasons this country did not back the British and French, but instead led the United Nations in urging a cease-fire and a British-French withdrawal.

Listening also to strident Russian cries that "volunteers" might be sent to Nasser's aid, the beleaguered Eden bowed unhappily to the pressures and halted the Allied sweep of the canal area on the very threshold of victory.

At home Sir Anthony's days were equally stormy.

Extreme rightists pounded him for failing to finish what he started. The Labor party assailed him for resorting to force, damaging Britain's position in the Middle East and elsewhere, and losing America's confidence.

Amid the clamor Eden fell ill and had to desert his post for three weeks. To many it seemed the beginning of the end.

So it was.

No doubt still in poor health, haunted by the specter of his Suez failure and tormented by adversaries on two sides, Sir Anthony could no longer shoulder the burden of bringing his country out of troubled waters.

In time historians will of course measure his performance at Suez. But few will question that there—as always before—he acted according to his gauge of his nation's best interests.

Wherever in the world Britain has friends, there will be keen regret that at the tender political age of 59 this man of quality and integrity must acknowledge he cannot live up to the rich promise he showed so early.

There will be sadness that Sir Anthony has been caught in a web perhaps only partly of his own making, and will now be left immobile on the sidelines at a critical interlude in history.

But there will also be lasting gratitude to this man for a lifetime of brave and devoted services in the cause of freedom. No failure can totally dim the distinction and dedication of his public career.

How New Is the New Freedom?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Northern Congressmen Move To Protect School Legislation; Senator McCarthy Wants To Probe His Old Critic, General Zwicker; Brass Hats Sure Do Enjoy Hunting In Alaska.

WASHINGTON. — Few voters realize how one vote on a congressional committee can mean schoolhouses or lack of schoolhouses for their children next year.

A backstage drama illustrating this took place the other day in the House of Representatives.

Fifteen House Democrats, belonging to the committee on committees, met behind closed doors to assign new congressmen to their committees. One important vacancy was open on the Education and Labor committee which last year hamstrung school construction.

Southern solons, who fear federal aid for schools will be tied to integration, hunted for a fellow southerner to fill the vacancy. They finally proposed ex-Sen. Alton Lennon, now a congressman from North Carolina, a strong segregationist. Lennon personally preferred to serve on the Merchant Marine and Fisheries committee but, largely because of his strong racial views, he was drafted for the Education and Labor committee.

This gave the conservative Republican — Southern Democratic coalition another vote to help block school aid.

The Lennon appointment stood overnight. Then Minnesota's vigorous Congressman Eugene McCarthy, Democrat, (no relation to Joe), mentally counted votes and discovered the southerners eight to seven on the committee on committees which decides who shall sit on what committee.

The next day, McCarthy suggested a reshuffle.

"It seems to me," he said sweetly without referring to schools or segregation, "that Representative Lennon should be given a chance to go on the committee of his choice, the Merchant Marine and Fisheries committee."

His solicitude for Lennon was backed by eight northern votes, opposed by seven southern votes. As a result, southerner Lennon was shifted to the committee of his choice, new Congressman George McGovern of South Dakota was assigned to the key Labor committee post.

WASHINGTON WHIRL

Senator McCarthy is still trying to investigate Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker, who precipitated the sensational Army-McCarthy hearings by refusing to kowtow to Joe. Now that Zwicker is up for promotion to two stars, Joe has written to Armed Services Chairman Dick Russell (D., Ga.) demanding an investigation. . . . Congressman Keith Thompson (R., Wyo.) is so unpopular with his staff that every last one walked out on him. . . . Sen. George Smathers (D., Fla.), chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign committee, has promised Ken Holm a job that will keep him in the limelight to run against Sen. Karl Mundt (R., S. D.) in 1960. Holm almost upset Sen. Francis Case in last year's scrap South Dakota Senate race. . . . Congressman Dan Flood (D., Pa.) has written a private letter to House Foreign Affairs Chairman Thomas Gordon warning that it would take 30 days for the Air Force to fly one combat division to the Middle East. Wrote Flood: "If the Middle East resolution before your committee is going to be effective as a deterrent to communist aggression, we must be able to transport our troops from this country to the trouble spot in 24 hours instead of 30 days." . . . Flood complained that the Air Force hasn't enough transport planes. "We have equipped ourselves with a force of fire fighters and a police escort," he wrote, "but we have failed to provide them with the fire engines, motorcycles, and squad cars which they need to get there in a hurry."

BRASS HAT HUNTING

Air Force and Army brass who have been hunting in Alaska at the taxpayers' expense are in for trouble from the House Interior committee.

Chairman Clair Engle of California, long worried over growing encroachments by the armed forces on the nation's wildlife resources, is on the warpath.

He has already drawn an admission from a Defense Department study group that the armed forces have sequestered more of the public domain than they actually need. Now the committee is checking reports that high-ranking officers have been using the surplus land to hunt and fish without respect for local wildlife regulations.

In Alaska it's known that top-drawer Pentagon officers have purchased resident hunting licenses for only $3. This indicates they've been flying to Alaska to hunt, also have fudged on purchasing the required non-resident licenses at $45.

Significant, also, is the fact that military reservations in Alaska frequently are laid out to coincide with the best hunting and fishing areas. Logs of Air Force planes also show that "official" flights are sometimes made to the specific spots where game and fish are most plentiful.

If the armed forces can prove that hunting and fishing have been limited to non-duty hours and are identical to official business in Alaska, Representative Engle will be satisfied. He's especially interested in one case where a jet plane was sent aloft hourly to relay radio messages between a high-ranking group in the woods and the Strategic Air Command in the U. S. A.

Representative Engle suspects this was to facilitate hunting. He is also interested in the log of the C-54 used by Lt. Gen. J. H. Atkinson, former Air Force commander in Alaska, which shows that Atkinson's plane was used to haul VIP's to Alaska's choicest game and fish areas.

FARM-GO-ROUND

Out in the drought area, which like just toured, some cattlemen are using government emergency feed, not to keep cattle alive as intended, but for feed-lot fattening. This gives them an unfair advantage over competitors. They buy drought feed from the government at $1.50 per hundred-weight less than regular feed. . . . Fifty-two per cent of Senator Eastland's home county in Mississippi is on relief this winter. This is one of the richest cotton areas in Mississippi. Population 55,000; total on relief, 29,000. Part of the welfare clients are Negro tenants and farm laborers who are put out "to graze on the government" in winter. They have been getting surplus food via Secretary Benson. . . . Mexican cattle buyers have been roaming the southwest, spending a $5,000,000 loan from Uncle Sam to increase breeding herds below the Rio Grande. They are also looking over Wisconsin dairy herds. . . . Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee, one of the top Ande quid breeders of the nation, has just bought 30 prize bulls, all sons or grandsons of international champions.

More Than 10 Million Vacationers Visited State In '56; Spent $750 Million

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Governor William G. Stratton today revealed that more than 10 million vacationers visited Illinois from other states last year and that they spent an estimated 750 million dollars with Illinois businesses.

The governor also released figures compiled by the Division of Department Reports, the state's travel promotion agency, to show that 96 per cent of out-of-state visitors to Illinois travel by car, while only 4 per cent use bus, train or plane. Vacationers replying to questionnaires from the division of reports indicate that motels claim the most travel patronage, with 49 per cent choosing them for overnight accommodations. Almost 20 per cent stayed with friends, 11 per cent preferred hotels, 13 per cent camped out, and the balance stayed at private resorts or did not report a preference.

Program Reaps Results

Governor Stratton said, "Our travel promotion program has reaped fine results. In a period of four years we have lifted Illinois from 11th place in popularity as a vacation land to a virtual tie for fourth place, with a corresponding increase in our share of the national vacation dollar. Americans spend more than 12 billion dollars on vacation travel each year and these dollars help American business. I am happy that Illinois, with limited expenditures in this field compared to other states, has done so much to increase the business of hotels, motels, restaurants, transportation businesses, recreation areas, sports equipment dealers and all others catering to the vastly expanded vacationing public."

Carl G. Hodges, division of reports superintendent, in charge of travel promotion for the state, said, "Not only do vacationers increase retail business for Illinois merchants, but they contribute huge sums to Illinois tax revenues thru the Illinois motor fuel tax and sales tax. Questionnaires returned from more than six thousand persons show that they spent $3,134 man-days in the state, traveled 817,609 miles and spent $190,000. This is but a tiny fraction of the vacationers coming to Illinois and the im-

MAKES HISTORY—Mrs. Roberta Westwood, 27-year-old Chicago housewife, helped make medical history at Edgewater Hospital when she had a thyroid gland operation. She was the first woman in medical annals to undergo a major operation under hypnosis, without anesthesia. She said she felt no pain and immediately after the surgery she sat up on the operating table and asked for a glass of water.

Readings were given by Bessie Aldridge, Gertie Ohl, Myrtle Buchanan and Lula Hughes.

The February meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Eva Estes.

X Chi Chapter Has Program on Hobbies

Xi Chi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its regular meeting in the club room of the public library on Wednesday evening. After the business meeting Mrs. Sorado Mugge, president, presented Mrs. Mary Metcalf who gave a most interesting talk on the subject "Why I Should Have a Hobby."

Mrs. Metcalf told of the kinds of hobbies and stated that hobbies must fit one's personality, must be interesting, should be right for one's age, adapted to one's ability, suit one's pocketbook and fit in with the amount of time one can give to them.

She also pointed out that hobbies tend to make one healthier, younger, a more interesting person and help one to keep his sense of humor. Mrs. Metcalf closed by adding that if more people had real hobbies, there would be fewer cases of nervous breakdowns.

Delicious refreshments were served by the following hostesses: Mrs. Mabel Wallace, Mrs. Jean Lamkin and Mrs. Mary Horn.

Indians of New Mexico have no written language. Their myths have passed orally from generation to generation.

Joint Installation of Officers by Midway IOOF and Rebekah Lodges

Joint installation of Pride of Midway Rebekah lodge No. 679 and Midway I. O. O. F. lodge No. 942 was held Thursday evening following the regular I. O. O. F. meeting at 7:30.

The hall was beautifully decorated with an archway entwined with pink chrysanthemums and greenery. Tall candelabra appeared on each side of the archway. Each station was draped in white and white candles were used as decoration.

The installing staff was composed of Oscar Kingery, deputy president; Vernon Hyers, warden; Clarence Dixon, recording secretary; Ed Keneipp, financial secretary; Earl Wilson, treasurer; Dan Gholson, chaplain; Lee Morse and Margaret Schmitz, deputy marshals.

After the benediction "The Lord's Prayer" was sung by Jerry Lauderdale.

"Someone Who Cares," was sung to Gertrude Cook, the retiring noble grand, as she was presented her past noble grand pin by Gladys Winkleman. Lee Morse presented the retiring I. O. O. F. noble grand; Eloine Koch, with his past noble grand pin. An arm bouquet of red roses was presented the new noble grand, Marie Frailey, by Harold Black, also a gift was presented to her by the lodge as Jerry Lauderdale sang "He."

An arm bouquet of red roses was given Mary Barger, vice grand, by her grandson. "Always" was sung to her as she received a gift from the lodge.

Those installed were: Noble grand, Marie Frailey and Vernon Hyers; vice grand, Mary Barger and J. D. Walton; recording secretary, Earl Hancock and Pauline Durfee; financial secretary, Ed Keneipp and Nina Vaughn; treasurer, George Gibson; warden, Blanche Lauderdale and Orval Hudnell; conductor, Mildred Brown and James Blackman; chaplain, Louise Butler and Lee Morse;

How to meet his future needs... now!

Just now, you may be confident that you will have the money for the education of your children. But who can prophesy what your situation will be in the 1970's? The answer is: You do not have to be a prophet.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has a new, flexible plan which can help you guarantee your children's future. It is called the Education-Estate Builder, and if you have young children, it can help to solve many of your future financial problems. The Education-Estate Builder works this way:

You take out insurance on the life of your son or daughter which provides, say, $1,000 a year for each of the four years of college. Then, when your child is ready for college, the money for college will be ready, too!

On the other hand, if the money is not needed for college or some other purpose, then each $1,000 of the Education insurance will become $5,000 of Limited Payment Life insurance for the same premium. The Life insurance then starts out with a cash value equal to the Educational Fund.

The Life insurance will become paid up in a limited number of years, the exact period varying according to your children's ages when the policy was taken out and when it becomes Limited Payment Life. If the decision is made to continue the insurance, no evidence of insurability as to physical condition or occupation will be required.

Under this plan, a $4,000 Educational Fund may thus become a $20,000 life insurance estate. Think how you would have liked such a nest egg at the beginning of your career!

This is a completely new Educational Plan which gives greater flexibility in planning your children's future than ever before. It can help to guarantee funds for education, or establish a sizable Life insurance estate at an early age when cost is low.

Your Metropolitan Representative will be glad to show you how this plan can be adapted to your particular needs. He will welcome the opportunity to prove that...

AROUND SPRINGFIELD

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN
Emphasis Placed on Reform
In Current General Assembly

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—The emphasis will be pretty much on reform in the current 70th General Assembly which convened its regular six - months session last week and listened to Gov. William G. Stratton's inaugural address here last Monday. Stratton proposed reforms but even before he spoke bipartisan legislation on the subject had already been submitted to the law makers.

One of the first bills offered was that co-sponsored by Democrat Minority Leader Sen. William J. Lynch, D., Chicago and Sen. W. Russell Arrington, R., Evanston. It calls for creation of a joint legislative commission to investigate the paying of a $35,000 fee by the Union Electric Company, St. Louis, Mo., to lobby a bill through the 1955 legislature.

The commission under terms of the Lynch - Arrington proposal would investigate all facts and persons involved in the payment of the fee. The lobbied bill involves former State Auditor Orville E. Hodge, Granite City's "Man of the Year" and who is now serving a 12-15 year prison sentence in Menard Prison for alleged theft, misuse or misapplication of $2 1-2 million of state funds.

Hodge was involved because the $35,000 fee is alleged to have found its way to him. He was generally regarded as the most influential person in the 1955 General Assembly of which he was a member for three terms before being elected state auditor in 1952. His influence and popularity in both legislative branches was credited for passing much of Stratton's program in 1953 and 1955.

Stratton proposed a program of reform in his inaugural speech. In it he advocated abolishment of the offices of state treasurer and auditor. He would replace the auditor by an official whose exclusive function would be to post-audit all state agencies and he would appoint a treasurer to be solely responsible for disbursing state funds. Both moves would require a constitutional amendment.

Senator Lynch has outlined a reform program which calls for the elimination of the State Budgetary Commission and adoption of parts of the Morey-Jenner report and its recommendations which also include abolishment of the offices of state treasurer and auditor and would set up new methods of fiscal control in state government.

Lynch's proposal to abolish the budgetary commission which passes on state agency appropriation requests before they go into the legislative hopper, is for the purpose of separating what he says is the executive function of preparing a budget and the legislative function of appropriating state monies. The Morey-Jenner report favors expansion of the budgetary commission.

The State Aeronautics Department has won the approval of the State Budgetary Commission of a $160,000 item for the purpose of increasing the department's fleet of state planes from four to six. Aeronautics Director Gene Abney, Harrisburg, said he hopes by some shrewd bargaining to get rid of some old planes and still boost the overall fleet to six.

A former state insurance director during the regime of Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, is climbing in the insurance world. He is J. Edward Day, formerly of Springfield, who has been named vice president of the Prudential Insurance Company of America. He has been the company's associate general counsel since 1953. Day will head Prudential's western home office at Los Angeles, Calif.

Thousands Watch Inauguration and Parade; Ike Takes Program in Stride

House, Senate Adjourn for Inaugural Ceremony

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of persons massed on the East Plaza of the Capitol today to watch President Eisenhower's second inauguration.

Many thousands more sat in temporary bleachers or stood at the curb on Pennsylvania and Constitution avenues, waiting for the President and Mrs. Eisenhower to ride from the White House to Capitol Hill and back.

Everywhere there was an atmosphere of excitement — everywhere except in Mr. Eisenhower's own office.

Eisenhower Pledges Second Term to Peace

in help honorably given, in sacrifice calmly borne."

"We are called to meet the price of this peace," he said.

Tells Price of Peace

"To counter the threat of those who seek to rule by force," he continued, "we must pay the costs of our own needed military strength, and to help to build the security of others. We must use our skills and knowledge and, at times, our substance to help others rise from misery, however far the scene of suffering may be from our shores."

The President dealt at length with his belief that the nations of the world have become increasingly interdependent, with mutual responsibility extending far beyond the borders of a single country.

He said that the economic needs of all countries made isolation "an impossibility."

"Not even America's prosperity could long survive if other nations did not also prosper," he said. "No nation can longer be a fortress, lone and strong and safe. And any people, seeking such shelter for themselves, can now build only their prison."

Ignores Domestic Problems

The President pointed out that the United States must recognize her "deep involvement in the destiny of men everywhere" and accordingly, should attempt to strengthen the authority of the United Nations.

"In that body rests the best hope of our age for the assertion of that law by which all nations may live in dignity," he said.

The President ignored domestic problems except as they are related to the international scene. He concentrated instead on peace.

Mr. Eisenhower, who was 66 last Oct. 14, is the oldest president to be inaugurated for a second term.

Today's Ceremony A Re-Take

Except for the President's address, today's inaugural ceremony was essentially a re-take, for public consumption, of the actual swearing-in which took place in the presence of 80 relatives and close friends in the East Room of the White House shortly after 10 a. m. Sunday.

That was more than a dress rehearsal for today's public, televised ceremony; it was a legal necessity. Legal experts decreed the White House oath-taking because the President and vice president's first terms officially expired at noon Sunday. But because it was Sunday, Mr. Eisenhower decided to postpone the public ceremony and attendant festivities until today.

Reporters and news photographers were barred from the ceremonies in the East Room of the Executive Mansion, but were given an official description after ward by White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty.

Attend Church Services

Before the swearing-in, the President and his wife, accompanied by their son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. John S. Eisenhower, had attended services at the National Presbyterian Church with other high government officials.

The pastor, the Rev. Edward L. R. Elson, said special prayers for the President and vice president, plus a special prayer for world peace.

The Eisenhowers arrived back at the White House a few minutes after 10 a. m. A few minutes later they walked arm-in-arm to the East Room.

The families and friends of the two principals were lined up around the room. Waiting in the center were the Nixons, Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.), Chief Justice Earl Warren and Frank W. Sanderson, White House administrative officer.

According to Hagerty, Nixon was first sworn in by Knowland with Sanderson extending the vice president a Bible that belonged originally to Nixon's great, great-grandparents.

Then Warren, dressed in a dark blue business suit rather than his judicial robe, administered the oath to Mr. Eisenhower. Sanderson held the Bible the President used again today, a gift from his late mother in 1915.

The oath ceremony for both the President and Nixon took only three minutes.

Mr. Eisenhower seemed to take this historic occasion in stride.

He got up at 7:30 a. m., pulled on a gray sport shirt, slacks and a gray sports jacket. He breakfasted on prunes, a small steak and coffee.

He strolled into his office at 8:30 a. m. and went over the reading copy of his inaugural address, making a few minor pencilled notations.

He dictated some personal correspondence, then returned to the residential quarters of the White House to change into formal clothes—a short, black morning coat and gray striped trousers.

A few minutes before his departure for Capitol Hill, he was joined by Vice President Richard M. Nixon and members of the congressional inaugural committee.

Crowd Gathers Early

The scene outside the executive mansion during the morning was one of energetic preparation. White House gardeners planted nearly 100 camellia plants in beds of peat moss on either side of the presidential reviewing stand on Pennsylvania Avenue. The Sanitary Department of the District of Columbia sent a water truck to flush remaining snow off of the White House driveways.

Behind the reviewing stand Navy mess stewards prepared snacks for the presidential reviewing party in a large house trailer. The trailer had two bedrooms, a bath, a fully equipped kitchen and a small sitting room.

At the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue—at the Capitol—thousands streamed into the East Plaza to witness a ceremony as old as the republic itself.

An hour before the presidential oath-taking, more than 6,000 persons had filed onto the Capitol grounds. An early morning rain had wet down the 12,000 open air seats. But the sun shone through the clouds periodically in mid-morning, drying out the plaza and warming the chill air. The leaden clouds still looked threatening, nevertheless.

The Marine Corps Band, resplendent in scarlet uniforms, was seated on a stand directly beneath the spot where Mr. Eisenhower took his oath.

Early arrivals at the Capitol Plaza were entertained by recorded music blaring over the loud speaker system. Then the Marine band warmed up with a series of marches.

Special Persian Carpet

Navy personnel had first aid stations at the outskirts of the crowds. Ambulances were spotted at strategic points around the Capitol. Fire trucks also were on hand in case of an emergency.

A Navy dirigible circled overhead.

Batteries of television, newsreel, and still cameras were massed on a steel ribbed platform directly facing the inaugural platform.

The President and other distinguished guests with platform seats walked down the main Capitol steps on a special, skid-proof Persian carpet. The actual swearing in platform was floored with a solid rich carpeting of a dark rose color.

The House and Senate met routinely at 10 a. m. CST and then assembled for the procession to the inaugural ceremony.

The president's car pulled out of the White House grounds at 10:37 CST for the drive to the Capitol.

Together in another limousine were Mrs. John S. Doud, the President's mother-in-law, the President's son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. John S. Eisenhower, and three of their four children, David, Barbara, and Susan. The baby—13-month-old Mary Jean—was left behind at the White House.

Bible Verse Selections by Eisenhower, Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower selected verse 12 of the 33rd chapter of Psalms as the Biblical passage on which to rest his hand in taking his oath for a second term.

It reads: "Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord; and the people whom He had chosen from His own inheritance."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon selected the fourth verse of the second chapter of Isaiah, which reads:

"And He shall judge among the nations; and shall rebuke many people; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruninghooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

The President used a Bible given to him by his late mother when he was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy in West Point in 1915.

Nixon used a Bible that belonged originally to his great, great-grandparents, William and Martha Milhous. The Bible was a King James Version printed in 1829.

White House with a baby sitter.

The Nixons' two daughters—Patricia, 10, and Julie, 8—went to the Capitol Plaza with their 71-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Frank Nixon. They sat quietly, but a little fidgety, in their front row seats.

The Cabinet, led by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, and top White House officials were among the last to take their platform seats before the President and vice president arrived.

They were followed by the robed justices of the Supreme Court, who walked on stage in traditional double file.

Blame Cranks For Threats To Airliners

HONOLULU (AP) — Police and FBI agents in Honolulu, Seattle and three other West Coast cities blamed cranks today for telephoned bomb threats that touched off a series of airliner searches during the week end.

One threat was received in the FBI office in Honolulu early Sunday and another threat was telephoned to the United Airlines office in Seattle Saturday night.

Seattle police held a 29-year-old former mental patient they said admitted making two telephone calls to the United Airlines reservations desk at Seattle. Detectives said FBI agents and United officials interviewed the unidentified man. He was to be questioned by a psychiatrist police said was familiar with the ex-patient's case.

In Honolulu, civilian and military guards took stations around International Airport and at Hickam Air Force Base as the result of a telephone call to FBI headquarters at 1:40 a. m.

"There's a bomb on a plane leaving Hawaii," a man's voice said.

Four hours of checking proved the report false. But first, every plane about to take off had to be searched. One plane, a Japan Airlines plane, had just taken off. It was ordered to return.

Planes operated by Pan American World Airways, Northwest Airlines, Qantas, and Japan Airlines underwent searches when they landed Sunday at San Francisco, Los Angeles, Portland and Seattle.

At least a dozen planes, and probably more, were searched at all five airports.

State Police Supt. Morris Re-Appointed

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — State Police Supt. William H. Morris today began a new two-year term in office after withdrawing a letter of resignation to Gov. William G. Stratton.

Morris announced his resignation Friday in order to retain his rank as assistant superintendent, which is under the State Police Merit Board, and thus retain his civil service and retirement benefits.

"I had no indication I would be reappointed superintendent," and consequently entered his resignation, Morris said. He had obtained a leave of absence from his position as assistant superintendent in order to protect his civil service status.

Saturday Morris was notified by Stratton of his reappointment, and Morris said he would apply for another year's leave from his permanent rank. The leaves are granted for only one year.

Morris was named chief last Feb. 1, after the resignation of former State Police Chief Phil M. Brown. The position is filled by appointment from the governor.

The new two-year appointment expires on the third Monday in January, 1959.

Du Quoin Packing Strike Ends

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — The strike is over at the Du Quoin Packing Co.

Production resumed today after settlement Saturday of a dispute over the pay of two workers. Some 220 workers walked off the job last Friday after the two workers did not receive pay for an after-hours meeting they attended.

Kenneth Hawk, president of Local 156, United Packinghouse Workers, said the company agreed to pay the two workers time and a half pay for the time they spent in the meeting.

Partial production was resumed today at the plant, a spokesman said.

Leamington Resident Dies

Identification of the airmen was withheld until relatives are notified.

Rescues Wife, Son, Aged Woman, Then Burns to Death

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — Leon True burned to death in his flaming home following the heroic rescue of his wife, their infant son and a 70-year-old woman.

The 20-year-old father returned for an item left in the blazing building Sunday and apparently was trapped by flames. His charred body was found near the rear door.

A leaking natural gas main was blamed by firemen for the blaze. An explosion caused flames to flare two stories high from the apartment building.

True helped his wife, Judith, 20, from a window of their first floor flat. Then he handed their 6-week-old son, Kevin, down to Millikin University students.

He helped Mrs. Lotetta Lampkin, a boarder, to escape after forcing his way into her room.

Czech Miners Stage Slowdown Sympathy Strike

VIENNA (AP) — Czechoslovak miners are staging a slowdown strike in sympathy with the miners of neighboring Hungary, reliable sources said here today.

The sources said the Czech miners' passive resistance already has caused a serious drop in coal production.

They said the slowdown was clearly connected with the situation in Hungary where miners are producing only half of their pre-revolution output.

Shawneetown Man Is Found Dead

Funeral services were held in Indianapolis Sunday morning for Charles F. Leser, 66, who was found dead in Shawneetown Saturday. It is believed his death was due to a heart attack.

Survivors include his wife, Faye, Indianapolis.

The body was taken from the Wright funeral home, Shawneetown, to Indianapolis for the funeral and burial.

An inquest will be held this week into the death.

20 Die in Illinois Traffic Accidents

By United Press

Traffic accidents killed at least 20 persons in Illinois during the weekend.

Near Evansville, Ill., Howard Ashby, 40, Belleville, was killed when he collided with an oncoming auto as he tried to pass another car. Three persons suffered minor injuries.

Jordan Student Sparks Drive To Aid Refugee

CARBONDALE, Ill. — A student from Jordan has sparked a financial campaign to sponsor a Hungarian refugee student at Southern Illinois University.

Fahmi Dahdah, 29-year-old graduate student at Southern, launched the drive after receiving a $200 start from the SIU Student Council. Under his plan, the student selected will arrive in March to enroll for the spring quarter.

Dahdah heads the University's International Relations club, which has sent nearly 1,000 letters appealing for donations to the newly-created Student Refugee Fund.

"This is not just a campus project," Dahdah emphasized. "We are asking individuals and organizations throughout southern Illinois to respond."

At Southern, Alpha Psi and Sagawah were the first organized houses to contribute to the fund. Carbondale's Rotary Club has added $50.

Although the goal is $1,000, Dahdah said when half that amount has been raised applications will be requested from the World University Service, which coordinates the refugee student program. Many Hungarian students who fled their country during the bloody anti-communist uprisings last fall are awaiting admittance to American colleges and universities, Dahdah explained.

A male student willing to work his way through college will be selected, according to Dahdah. All his expenses will be paid during his first quarter at SIU, but he would be expected to work full time in the summer to earn money for next year's schooling. Dahdah hopes the student would be provided with a rent-free room during his stay.

The fund will be replenished each year in order to bring other refugee students to Southern, he added.

"Working my way through college in this country has been a wonderful experience for me," the Jordanian said. "I feel that foreign refugee students should be given the same opportunity, but they need some financial assistance to get started."

Contributions may be directed to: Dr. Erwin D. Stasek, Financial Assistance Center, Office of Student Affairs, Southern Illinois University. Checks should be made out to "SIU Student Refugee Fund", Dahdah said.

Members of a special Student Council - International Relations Club committee conducting the Student Refugee Fund campaign besides Dahdah are: Sandra Unger, Hooneston, Council president; Jerry Feezel, Wood River; Max Malone, Melrose Park; Ellsworth George, White Hall; and Eleni Kotisa, Greece. Also assisting are Jan Marie Feeley, Battle Creek, Mich., and Georg Hopfer, Germany.

Faculty members who will help select the student are Dr. Frank I. Klingberg, professor of government, and Dr. Willis G. Swartz, dean of the Graduate School.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

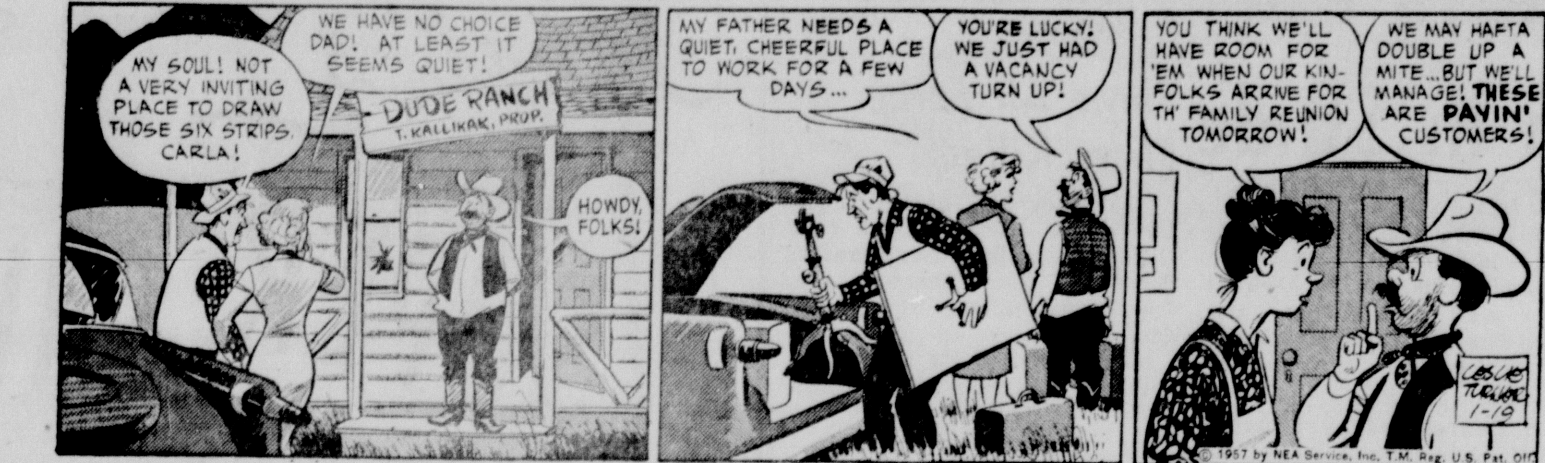

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONOID's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONOID's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONOID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98¢ for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2¢ per tablet.

Phil Dickens New Indiana U. Coach

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Phil Dickens, Indiana's new football coach, today got his first look at what lies ahead.

Dickens arrived on the Indiana campus from his Wyoming home late Sunday night, stopping off to change planes in Chicago.

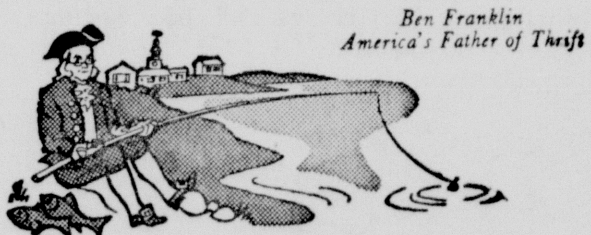

Dickens, whose lifetime .702 winning mark ranks him 10th among the nation's active grid coaches, still had two years to run on his Wyoming contract. His Cowboys chalked up a 10-0 record and won the Skyline Conference crown last season. Dickens' over-all record in ten years as Wyoming head coach was 69-27-8. Officials said Indiana awarded Dickens a four-year contract Saturday calling for an annual wage of $15,000.

MacAuley Passes 10,000 Point Mark As Hawks Win

By United Press

Easy Ed MacAuley of St. Louis ranked today as the second player in pro basketball history to score 10,000 points, but he had to share top billing for his team's latest triumph with teammates Cliff Hagan and Charley Share.

The stringbean MacAuley, former St. Louis U. star now shining for the professional Hawks, hooped 22 points Sunday against the Philadelphia Warriors to boost his pro career total to 10,017. The now-retired George Mikan of Minneapolis is the only other man to go over 10,000.

But Hagan saved the Hawks in regulation time with a basket with five seconds left, and Share tipped in a goal with the same amount left in the overtime to give the Hawks their 104-102 victory. Bob Pettit had 23 points for the Hawks and Neil Johnston 33 for the Warriors.

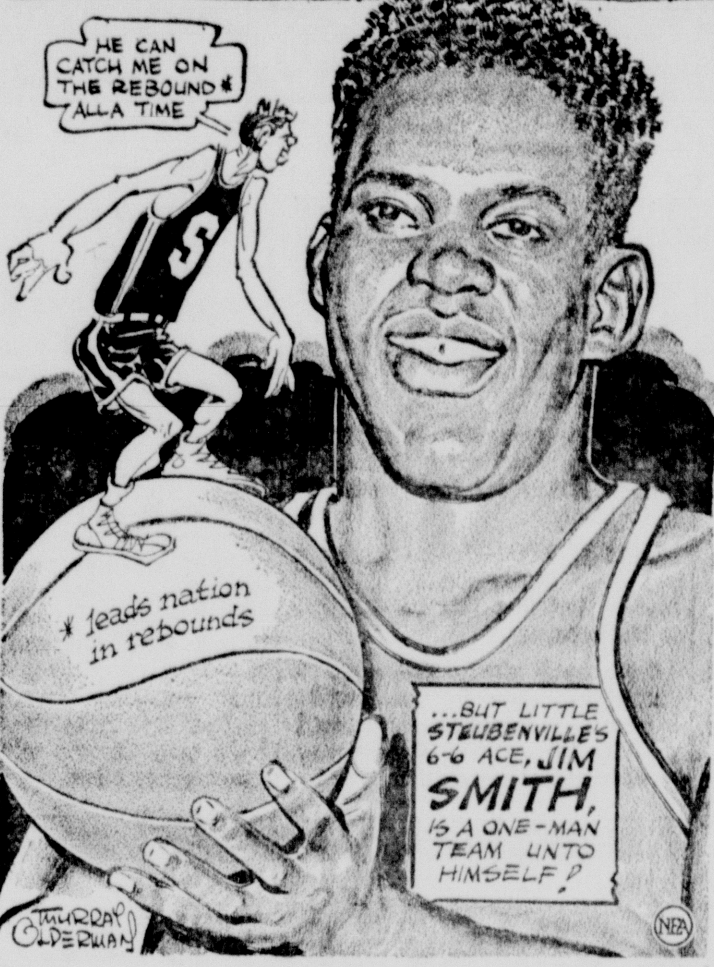

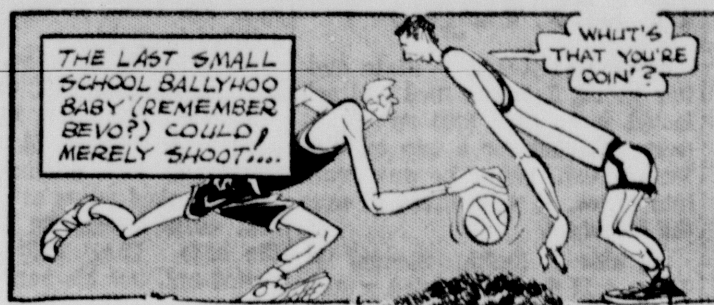

In other Sunday games, Minneapolis sank 50 free throws, a league high for the season, to beat Rochester, 114-107; Syracuse nipped Fort Wayne, 101-98; and Boston trounced New York, 114-78.

ONE FOR ALL

Ohio State Easily Paces Big Ten; No Real Test Until Game with Illinois Feb. 4

CHICAGO (AP)—As far as its rivals are concerned, Ohio State's rule of Big Ten basketball is apt to get worse before it gets better.

The high-riding Buckeyes picked up their fourth straight conference victory Saturday night, whipping winless Michigan State, 70-51, with the greatest ease.

The road ahead looked smooth enough for the Ohio State crew to make it seven straight Big Ten wins before encountering any danger. Beginning tonight the Buckeyes take on the loop's three weak sisters—Wisconsin, Northwestern and Michigan State again—within the next two weeks.

Iowa Beats Badgers

The Badgers are without a win in five tries, the Spartans are winless in three and the Wildcats have a victory over the Badgers against three losses.

Ohio State's first tough test since the Purdue victory comes when the Buckeyes go to Champaign, Ill., on Feb. 4 for a clash with the high scoring Illinois quintet.

While the Bucks were winning on Saturday's abbreviated conference slate, Minnesota defeated Northwestern, 73-62, in an afternoon TV contest, and Iowa swamped Wisconsin, 70-47.

Beyond the Buckeyes' increased grip on first place, the results failed to change the standings.

A state record basketball crowd of 13,750 fans witnessed the Ohio team's easy conquest of the Spartans. Big Frank Howard, the Big Ten's second ranking scorer, sank 17 points to share scoring honors with junior guard Jim Laughlin.

Kline Scores 26

The Gopher victory ended a two-game losing streak and gave the Wildcats their fourth straight defeat, including three in the conference.

Center George Kline, No. 3 marksman in the conference, was the pacesetter for the Gophers with 26 points. The Wildcats, sinking fast after a promising start this season, were never closer than eight points.

Iowa's sophomore dominated lineup was enough to dazzle the hapless Badgers into their fifth straight loss. Sophomore forward

Red Birds Back On Uniforms of Cardinal Players

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Red-faced Frank Lane admitted Saturday he had gotten rid of too many Cardinals. So a pair of Red Birds will be back on the front of each of the St. Louis Cardinals' uniforms next season, the general manager announced.

"I didn't realize the tradition of the birds on the uniform meant so much to St. Louis fans," Lane said, explaining that a year ago he took the emblems off "to help the players by lightening the uniform by taking off the heavy embroidery."

"But practically everybody complained," the famous trader said. Now, Lane said, he's "happy" to go along with "the wishes of such good supporters of the Cardinals."

Two of the birds will be perched on a gold bat, entwined in the word "Cardinals." The rest of the uniform will remain the same.

Final Tiger Basket by Local Player; County Tournament This Week

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs turned their heads this week toward intra-county competition following the South Seven cage rout by Herrin here Saturday night.

The Tigers, one of the top teams in the state, beat the Bull Dogs, 80 to 34, at Herrin last Dec. 14 and proved it was no fluke when they won at Davenport gym, 100 to 37, night before last.

But one thing can be said about the game—Herrin needed some direct help from Harrisburg to bring the point total to 100.

There were just seconds left and Herrin was leading 98-37. Bull Dog Gary Aldridge tried to bat a high pass to a teammate and instead batted it 12 or 14 feet into the Herrin basket. The game ended right after this field goal, which was awarded to the Tigers' acting captain, Jim Gualdoni.

Wild Scoring in Second Half

The game wasn't too bad the first half as the locals did a pretty good defensive job although they weren't hitting well at all. Then all fury broke loose the second half as Herrin scored 32 points the third quarter and 40 in the final period.

At the outset of the game, Harrisburg went ahead for the only time in the contest at 4-2 on Bill Henshaw's field goal. Then the locals didn't make another field goal for more than ten minutes, or until Jim Cummings connected with three minutes and 50 seconds to go in the second period.

With Harrisburg showing a nice press, the Herrin score was held to 12 in the first quarter and 16 in the second, with the Tigers leading 28-16 at halftime.

There's not much to say about the last half except that Herrin ran wild.

Bull Pups Lose

Big Tiger ace, John Tidwell, who has been acclaimed the best jump-shot artist in southern Illinois, finished up with 29 points, making 18 the first half. Box, who had been held to one field goal, and Jefferson, who had made but two, started hitting the last half, with Box winding up with 20 points and Jefferson with 22.

In the preliminary game the Bull Pups lost to the Herrin freshman-sophomore team, 60 to 50. Herrin led 13-6 at the quarter, 30-28 at the half and 48-43 at the end of the third quarter. Freshman John Stone was high for Harrisburg with 18 points, followed by Ron Maynard's 17, Wasson had 6, Pavelonis 4, Kane 3, Pickford 2 and Stricklin also saw action.

The inter-county action coming up this week-end will be the annual Saline County Basketball tournament to be held Friday and Saturday evenings at Davenport gym with Carrier Mills, Galatia, Eldorado and Harrisburg competing.

A DOCTOR for BLUE JAY COVE

By ELIZABETH SEIFERT

Copyright 1956 by Elizabeth Seifert. Distributed by NEA Service.

THE STORY: Although Dr. Matt Knapp, chief surgeon at the hospital, has returned to Blue Jay Cove, he is lax in doing his share of the work, most of which falls on the shoulders of Dr. Alex Ward. Alex believes the reason is Miss Lenore Black, mystery woman at the hospital. Alex has seen Lenore and Matt together.

XVI

She stirred her coffee round and round, watching the rings her spoon made in the shiny brown surface. "My idea was this," she said slowly. "I felt that Matt had come to a place where—things were being changed anyway, you know? Well, I thought he was at a point in his life when he should establish himself as his own man here in the hospital, here in his work, his job. And not only in the hospital, but in the town. You know—the way his father did, Alex. Dr. Knapp always took an active part in civic matters; he was even mayor for several years. And I thought if ever Matt was going to do that sort of thing—but especially in his work—he should be given a chance to stand alone, not propped up by some woman."

"You're not some woman, Sue," he said, gently firm. "You're the guy's wife."

"I'm his wife," she agreed, her tone sharp. "And that's my project, Alex! To be Matt's wife, to keep his home, and care for his child—and let him do the bacon-bringing-home."

"Sue?" he said then, "you know Lenore Black?"

"Didn't you tell me that she brought in this case tonight?"

"No," said Alex recognizing her plan to change the subject. "I said that she was at the filling station when the boy was hurt. It was she who put him on the dolly and kept him there."

"Big help," agreed Sue. "It's amazing what First Aid lessons do for people, Alex. Those courses really pay off."

"Do you know why she chooses to live in the Cove?"

Sue frowned. "She came here for treatment."

Alex's face showed that he did not buy her theory. "Do you know where she comes from?"

"She was referred to us by a Kansas City doctor. That's all I know of her origin. In the history. But I think I have figured out some of her background, Sue, where she has been."

"I am sure," he said gravely, "that Matt knew Lenore when he was stationed in the Philippines. I am not sure of their relationship. I am not sure what she was doing there, or any of those details. I am sure, however, that she came here to the Cove, almost directly from Manila. I am sure that her paralysis was an after-effect of an illness which she suffered there. She was probably hospitalized for a time, and, when able, she came here for treatment—because of Matt."

He glanced at Sue, and put his hand out to cover hers.

She could make only a faint sound of protest; and Alex silenced her before the sound could form words. "Matt is seeing her, Sue. Those walks he takes—he goes to her houseboat, or they meet—"

Sue drew her hand away from his touch. "It can't be true. The woman's too good."

"She's a woman."

She gulped and drank some of her cold coffee and blew her nose. "I'm sorry, but I felt I should tell you this, Sue."

"Thanks for nothing," she said wryly. "You should go home to bed."

"I'll be okay. I want to speak again about your coming back to work, Sue. I really think you should. We need you—you know we do. I had to call on you yesterday. Tonight there was this emergency. And if I decide to leave, Matt couldn't swing the place alone."

She choked on the coffee she was drinking, choked and gasped. "What—talking about?" she managed at last. "You can't leave!"

"I think, maybe, that I should. And right away."

"But," Sue took up his word, "what about Aunt Cordy? What's she going to think about your leaving? For that matter, can you leave, after all she's done for you?"

Alex fanned the air with his clenched fist, and made an exasperated sound between his teeth. "Look," he said. "I used to feel an obligation to the Springs and to my mother. That's why I persuaded Cass that I should come here and work for a time. But now I know what the situation is."

I am not obligated to let gratitude to the Knapps direct my professional career. My mother—Aunt Cordy brought me into the world, and she raised me. Just as you plan to raise Bill. You'd do that alone, too, if it became necessary. Wouldn't you? It would be expected of you."

For a long minute, Sue stood looking at him. Then she said, almost in a whisper, "Alex, I can't let myself believe what you've told me tonight! I've got to hope you're wrong!"

Sue slumped into a deep chair and ran her fingers through her short hair, and waited for the first sound of Matt's car, the first suggestion of lights coming into the hospital grounds.

Matt had gone to a Kiwanis meeting. It was Wednesday night, and he always went to the dinner meeting on Wednesday. She could count on it!

She said all these things to herself, and defiantly. She didn't want to be anxious. She didn't intend to think about what Alex had said to her.

He might know more about Lenore Black than Sue did, but Sue preferred her own appraisal of the woman. And she was not going to believe Alex!

Farmers' Social Security Reports Due This Month

Farm operators who have paid any farmhand as much as $100 in cash wages during the year 1956 must file an employer's tax return for agricultural employees, according to an announcement today by E. Bishop Hill, district manager of the Harrisburg office of the Social Security Administration. This return should be filed with the District Director of Internal Revenue, by January 31, along with the social security taxes on the wages reported. The return must show the name, social security number, and wages paid to each employee whose cash wages in 1956 amounted to $100 or more.

Beginning with 1957, a farm operator is required to report the wages of every farm employee to whom he pays $150 or more cash wages during 1957 or who works for him on 20 or more days during 1957 on a time basis, regardless of the total cash wages paid.

Auditor Collects $532 for Trip To Las Vegas

SPRINGFIELD — State Auditor Elbert S. Smith filed and collected more than $400 on an expense voucher for a trip to Las Vegas, Nev., before he was sworn into office, it was disclosed over the weekend.

An aide to Smith, Samuel K. Gove, said Smith attended a state auditor's convention at Las Vegas at the suggestion of outgoing State Auditor Lloyd Morey.

Gove said at Champaign that Smith filed and collected on an expense voucher of $532.72 for the period before he was installed as state auditor. Of this, $432.62 was for the Las Vegas trip to the convention of the National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers and Treasurers.

The convention was held Dec. 5-8; Smith was inaugurated as auditor Jan. 14.

Smith's expenses included $72 at the Riviera Hotel for his wife and himself, $52.50 for meals and $65 in incidentals.

Gove said Smith also made a trip to Phoenix, Ariz., to visit friends, but that this did not add to his expenses.

Gove said Morey suggested to Smith that since he was coming into office it would be more profitable for him, rather than Morey, to attend the convention.

Two Illinois Naval Reserve Fliers Die in Jet Collision

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — Two Naval Reserve officers from Illinois were killed Sunday when their F91 Navy jet fighter planes collided in flight.

The victims were identified as Lt. Cmdr. Charles R. Walton, 38, Wheaton, Ill., and Lt. Jerome Fishel, 33, Urbana, Ill.

Kirtland AFB officers said the planes locked wings at about 1,000 feet while attempting to land at the base. They said one pilot bailed out, but his parachute failed to open. The other man went down with his plane.

They were part of a three-aircraft unit flying from Glenview Naval Air Station near Chicago to Miramar Naval Air Station near San Diego, Calif.

Girl Dies of Burns Despite Skin Graft From Dead Boy's Body

CHICAGO — Little Cindy Evans died in her sleep at Children's Memorial Hospital Sunday night despite an emergency skin graft from a dead boy's body.

The 3-year-old Decatur, Ill., girl had been in critical condition since her dress caught fire Nov. 27, burning her from her knees to her chin.

On Christmas Eve, 3-year-old Gilbert Case, Chicago, was killed in a traffic accident. In a five-hour operation Dec. 28, doctors grafted skin from the little boy's body onto Cindy's with hopes of keeping her alive.

AFL-CIO Board Urged to Instruct Teamsters to Cooperate in Probe

WASHINGTON — Sen. Karl E. Mundt suggested today that the AFL-CIO Executive Board instruct officials of the giant Teamsters union to cooperate in a Senate investigation of labor racketeering.

The South Dakota Republican is a member of a subcommittee which last week opened an inquiry into racketeering in some unions.

A group of officials from the AFL-CIO teamsters union and New York Local 227 of the Allied Industrial Workers of America refused to answer questions put to them by the subcommittee.

Although some witnesses based their refusal on the constitutional protection against self-incrimination, the Teamsters officials declined to testify on grounds that the Senate's investigating subcommittee has no power to investigate unions.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) has said he would ask the Senate to authorize contempt of Congress charges against the balking witnesses as soon as possible.

But Mundt said he hoped the AFL-CIO Executive Board, scheduled to meet later this month, "will instruct Teamster officials to cooperate with the subcommittee and manifest the same interest in cleaning up the union's affairs—that the Congress has shown."
